

Old Wells of Poland

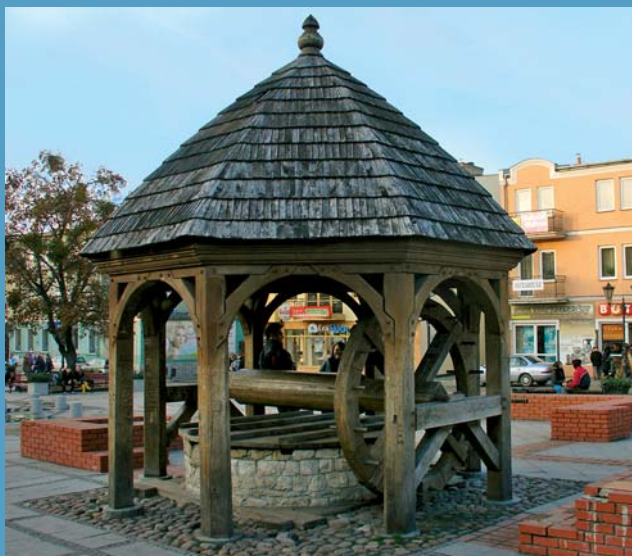

Fig. 1. Chełm. A reconstruction of town water well from 18th century

Fig. 2. Dug wells called cranes are still common elements of landscape in Podlasie (east of Poland)

Fig. 3. Collegium Maius, Cracow. A well of 1517 in the center of a vast courtyard of the late-Gothic edifice. An ornamental rim made of black Dębnik marble was added in the years 1950s

Fig. 4. Warsaw Wilanów. A well of the year 1809, with painting of the Holy Mary by Z. Strzelecki (from the middle of 19th century)

Fig. 5. Grabarka. A water well of ca. 1948.
All photos by W. Komorowski